Research Article IJOAR (2018) 1:12

International Journal of Aging Research (ISSN:2637-3742)

Life quality in hypertensive elderly people in Olinda - PE

Ribeiro, G.O1; Silva, K.C.L2; Souza, F.S3<sup>3</sup>; Melo, T.A4; Fernandes, M.G5; Lima, A.K.P6

1.2. 3.4Universidade Católica de Pernambuco: 5Fisioterapeuta Doutora em Ciências da saúde -UFRN, 6Docente/Pesquisadora do Departamento de Fisioterapia – UNICAP.

ABSTRACT

Introduction: Hypertension is among the first places in the prob- \*Correspondence to Author: lems of public health in worldwide. Being the most common Ribeiro, G.O chronic disease in the elderly. Objective: To identify the hyper- Universidade Católica de Pernamtensive elderly community so that we can verify the functional buco ability, mental health, general health, pain, vitality, social functioning, limitations due to emotional and physical aspects of that population. Methodology: The study was conducted in the How to cite this article: Community Center and welfare of the Town of COHAB 7 ° RO, Ribeiro, G.O; Silva, K.C.L; Souza, whose sample consisted of 53 elderly hypertensive patients, F.S; Melo, T.A; Fernandes, M.G; aged 60 years, of both genders. Later we used the SF-36. Result Lima, A.K.P. Life quality in hyperand Discussion: The final sample comprised 44 volunteers with tensive elderly people in Olinda mean age of 72.5 years. A comparison between scores in differ- PE. International Journal of Aging ent domains of the SF-36 in individuals who engage in activities Research, 2018, 1:12 to entertain and physical activities, observing significantly higher in the SM domain, the group of individuals who practice physical activity (85.1  $\pm$  16, 0 vs 70.0  $\pm$  18.6, p = 0.02). Conclusion: Given the results run in this study, to denote the deleterious effects of hypertension, thus demonstrating the damage that interfere with the general health of the elderly. Making clear the importance of eSciPub LLC, Houston, TX USA. applying a questionnaire to assess quality of life in this popula- Website: http://escipub.com/ tion.

Keywords: Aged; Hypertension; Quality of life

